

February 29, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

Meghan Kulesza was a student in my Lifespan Human Development class during the fall 2003 semester. She was a delight to have as a student and I look forward to hearing about her future endeavors. Meghan is an enthusiastic learner who is well liked by her peers. She is energetic, communicative, and friendly. Meghan possesses a high degree of intellectual curiosity and was always an active participant in class discussions. I looked forward to her presence in class because her interest and enthusiasm about the course material was contagious. She embraced a leadership role during small group exercises and interacted well with her peers. She was a hard worker and earned an A- in my course.

Meghan shared some of her past adventures and future travel plans with me. She is an amazing young woman who has a wealth of life experience. She loves to travel and has already seen more of the world than many adults will in their lifetime. It is admirable that during her demanding college load, she has embraced several personal growth opportunities. She has volunteered at Mercy Medical Center and the Manna Soup Kitchen, and served as a teacher's aide at Florida Mesa Preschool and Sunnyside Elementary.

I urge you to give Meghan your strongest consideration.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Denise M. Simonsen".

Denise M. Simonsen
Adjunct Faculty
Psychology Department